Senator Schultz, with unanimous consent, asked that when the Senate adjourn, it do so in honor of former LRB Director Dr. Rupert H. Theobald and that the following remarks of former Assembly Speaker Tom Loftus at Dr. Theobald's funeral be spread upon the Journal:

My condolences to the family of Dr. Rupert Theobald, and my thanks to you on behalf of generations of grateful legislators for sharing him with us.

On my first trip to Berlin in 1985, it was then usually referred to a divided Berlin, one of my hosts was the caretaker of the Reichstag. He watched over the building, keeping it not as a museum but as the parliament in waiting for the day of reunification. The chamber was there with all the seats, the podium, the press gallery, waiting for the return of the deputies. In 1933, the Nazis came to power and the same year the Reichstag was set on fire. It was not rebuilt. The burned out shell of the building remained. A prominent reminder on the skyline of the impotence and failure of democracy as a way to govern. The Berlin of the shattered parliament was the one Rupert grew up in and the one he left when he came to Wisconsin in 1950.

When Rupert arrived, Joe McCarthy was in the United States Senate and Walter Kohler had just defeated a young Carl Thompson in the Governor's race. Joe would go and Carl went on to a long and admirable service in the State Senate. Rupert would have been keenly aware of all of this as he came here to learn to be a journalist. The Legislature was lucky Rupert ended up at the Legislative Reference Bureau. Because there are elections does not mean there is a democracy. Because there is a Legislature or parliament does not mean there is a democracy. When those elected get to office they have to find there an institution that itself is democratic. That is the trick of it all. The LRB was and is the democratic center that holds the Wisconsin's Legislature.

I am witness here to tell you that democracy in the Legislature weakened considerably about three in the morning when trying to pass a budget bill. It is this hour that popular will collides with unpopular individual liberties, even unpopular individuals. This is when I would walk to the LRB and into Rupert's office to talk about what could be done, what could not be done, and what should not be done. Rupert was the keeper of the precedent, the gatekeeper for the Constitution, and the alter ego for the leader.

And as a legislative leader your ego is so big you are shocked to learn there is someone to counsel you. That knows you well, and knew those that came before. He sees you as not there, but passing through, and that you owe considerable respect to those who tended the democratic garden before you, and you need to leave it without weeds and thorny bushes. So all this was the gift of Rupert.

But it was also that democracy is of institutions and they are not self-perpetuating. They are only as good as the men and women who have them in their temporary care.

So thank you Dr. Theobald.
